Man kills ex-wife, turns gun on self

Palm Beach County investigators reported that a Clewiston man shot and killed his ex-wife and then took his own life a few minutes later about 1 p.m. Monday, June 8, in Lake Harbor.

After receiving a report of a shooting at the Lake Harbor Cafe, Lt. Michael Mills and Deputy Sheriff Clarence Backhermes found Margaret Howell Merchant, 38, of Route 2, Box 48, Clewiston dead with about four gunshot wounds in her chest. A .38 caliber pistol is believed to have been used in the shooting.

Witnesses to the shooting identified Nabro Remsley Ennever, 56, as her slayer. The two lawmen spotted Ennever about two-tenths of a mile away, walking west along the railroad tracks.

As the lawmen approached, Ennever turned, pointed the gun at his head and threatened to kill himself. The lawmen pleaded with Ennever not to kill himself, but the man placed the gun under his chin and fired. Mills and Backhermes immediately checked Ennever for vital signs, but could find none.

An autopsy was conducted on both Mrs. Merchant and Ennever Tuesday. Detectives William Bass and Cliff Simonds of the Belle Glade Detectives Bureau are conducting the investigation into the deaths.

Freedom Festival coming to Pahokee

PAHOKEE - With the Third Annual Pahokee Freedom Festival just three weeks away, members of the Board of Directors of the Pahokee Chamber of Commerce are busy finalizing plans to make the 1981 Fourth of July celebration a gala event.

Meeting in the Chamber of Commerce office Monday, Robert "Bob" Welty, newly elected Chamber president received the go ahead to solicit funds from local business and organizations to assist with the cost of putting on the annual event.

Welty said funds are still needed for the fireworks display and for the expenses of professional entertainers appearing at the festival.

Doris Wetherington said the Pahokee Civic Pride Association (PCPA) will donate T-shirts to the Chambers to sell in conjunction with the festival.

Simon Train, immediate past president of the Pahokee Chamber of Commerce, said the T-shirts should go on sell June 22 at the Chamber of Commerce office.

Like last year's T-shirts, the Pahokee Freedom Festival will be advertised on the shirts.

Board member Diane Hall designed a new logo for the 1981 Freedom Festival shirts.

Simon Train said the shirts will come in several styles and colors and sizes will range from infant to extra extra large.

Ray Hatten, chairman of the Entertainment Committee said Sunshine Water Sports L.T.D., a skiing outfit from Belle Glade, will put on a show July 4th, providing the lake level is up.

Hatten said currently there are plans to have a Bass Fishing Tournament, a sky diving show, Country western performer Lonnie Jolsen and other professional and local entertainers performing at the festival.

He also said plans are being made to have the raft races again this year. Hatten said the raft races were not successful last year, but residents have expressed an interest in staging the event again this year.

The Pahokee Lions Club will be selling barbecue dinners and PCPA will be selling cokes the day of the festival.

Mrs. Wetherington said local clubs and organizations may have booths at the celebration. Mrs. Wetherington said the Chamber will be providing the booth at a fee of 10 percent of the sales. The Board of Directors will meet each Monday at noon at the Chamber of Commerce office to complete plans for the Festival up until the Fourth of July.

Pahokee reviews water rates

By ALMA HENRY PAHOKEE - The Pahokee City Council Tuesday night received the results of a study by Russell and Axon Engineers, Planning and Architects, Inc., of the city's water and sewer rate survey.

A spokesman for the city's consultant engineer firm said according to information gathered during the survey, the City Council needs to increase its water and sewer rates for citizens living inside and outside of the city limits.

The report also suggest the city should impose a water and sewer impact fee for new construction.

Parking problem studied

The traffic hazard caused by semi-trucks parked along South Main Street blocking the visibility of drivers pulling out of driveways in that area is getting the attention of Belle Glade city commissioners.

The problem was outlined again for commissioners Monday night by City Planner Joe Fay who had contacted the Florida Department of Transportation (FDOT) and been advised that any request for a parking ban would have to be submitted by the city in the form of a resolution.

"As to a ban on trucks only, we believe this is inconsistent with standard practice and causes difficulty in defining what types of trucks can be prohibited," the letter, signed by James P. Reynold, assistant district traffic operations engineer, stated.

Describing the FDOT response as "evasive," Fay told commissioners he interpreted the reply to mean "you make a recommendation and we'll let you know what we think of it."

Fay had written to FDOT after receiving a letter of concern from Mike Royal, whose Burger King restaurant driveway is one of those affected by the parked trucks.

In replying to Fay, Reynold pointed out that it was because a parking ban could adversely affect businesses that the department requires the request to be made in the form of a city resolution.

City Attorney John Baker voiced the opinion that FDOT might be agreeable to prohibiting truck parking and not auto, if the resolution defined the height and sized of trucks to be included in the parking ban since the problem concerns blocking visibility. The commissioners accepted Baker's recommendation that he and City Chief D. Bill Mathis work together on drawing up a proposal to be submitted to FDOT.

South Bay men arrested

Two South Bay men were arrested last week in connection with the shooting death of a 34-year-old trucker and the state attorney's office indicates it will seek first degree murder indictments against the men.

Johnny Lewis, 20, was arrested Tuesday, June 2, and Tony Glen Clark, 21, was arrested Friday, June 5, in Lake County.

Robert W. Barton was found shot to death in his room at the Days Inn May 14. Initially, South Bay police officers and Palm Beach County Sheriff's Department investigators groped for clues in the murder, seeking a motive for the slaying.

Sgt. Harry Driggers of the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Department said investigators began receiving confidential information, which enabled them to solve the murder.

"Luckily, a couple of our leads panned out for us," he said. Investigators suspect that Barton was slain following an attempt to purchase marijuana.

was Richard G. Lepeska, executive director of the Economic Council of Palm Beach County, which is proposing a countywide Industrial Development Authority for the purpose of attracting desirable industrial development.

Lepeska appeared at the request of commissioners who have been approached by a Lake Park firm, Alcohol Distillery Consultants, about building a gasoline production plant in Belle Glade to be financed by industrial revenue bonds. The firm had requested the city to establish an Industrial Revenue Board to work with the firm.

Lepeska explained that the countywide authority, operating under the sanction of the county commission, would be set up to investigate offers, such as that made by the Lake Park firm. The county will be asked June 18 to consider establishing the authority, Lepeska said.

Mayor Tom Altman expressed his support for a county authority and recommended that the city commissioners also consider establishing a "blue ribbon committee" to make suggestions on attracting commercial development.

In other business, the commission approved payment of $34,988 in bills submitted by Echols Collins Electric and Plumbing contractors dating back to March 1980, reportedly delayed because the original bills were lost.

The commissioners approved payment after receiving assurances from City Manager Rolfe Wagner and Frank Anderson, city finance officer, that the bills appear to be legitimate despite the delay.

At the request of Patrolman John Ryan, president of the Police Benevolent Association, commissioners approved a 25-year lease at $1 a year with the PBA on the municipal building at the Little League ball park for use as a pistol range and classroom. The lease could be canceled on a year's notice with the city reimbursing the PBA on a pro rata basis for any improvements made to the building.

A request by David Motes, executive director of the Belle Glade Housing Authority, that the city reduce the building permit fees totaling $3,240 required for construction of 36 houses at the Osceola Center, was referred to a workshop session. Motes was advised that the city had to collect the fees but could negotiate donating some portion back to the authority.

In other business, commissioners:

- Set a deposit fee of $50 for use of the pavilion at the marina and approved summer weekly rates for trailer hook-ups at $46 for the new section and $43 in the old section.
- Appointed Curtis A. Thompson to the Municipal Code Enforcement Board.
- Approved a special 25-cent rate for West Exceptional Child Educational Center students taking swimming lessons at the Lakeshore Civic Center pool.
- Approved a summer youth employment agreement with the Palm Beach County Urban League to provide employment for 31 youths between the ages of 16 and 21 using CETA (Comprehensive Employment and Training Act) funds.

struction outside of the city limits.

The report said the city is presently losing money and its operation and will continue to do so at the present rate structure.

In 1978 the city's water expenses over its income was $45,045; in 1979, $186,856 was lost and in 1980 the city sewer and water departments lost $200,261.

The Council was told that as of the present fiscal year, the city expenses would exceed its income by approximately $200,000.

Councilman George Tills said he wanted to know why the city is losing so much money. He was unable to receive a direct answer because George Cross, director of the Utilities department was absent from the meeting.

The engineer said the city could possibly be losing large quantities of water because of old and outdated equipment.

The report suggested that the city should raise its water rates from $1.50 per 1,000 gallon to $2.10 per 1,000 for residents inside the city and to $2.63 for persons outside of the city.

The City Council agreed to table any action on the recommendation until the city had an efficiency study done in each department in the city.

In other business, councilmen:

- Heard a report from Dr. Carl L. Brumbeck, director of the Palm Beach County Health Department, on the status of reopening the health clinic in Pahokee.

Dr. Brumbeck said plans presently call for a comprehensive health complex to be built behind the County Courthouse Annex in Belle Glade.

He said if funds are available, the Pahokee Center will once again provide personal health care services for residents of the city.

Dr. Brumbeck said presently the environmental staff is located at the Pahokee Clinic.

Mrs. Ethel Barnes, a member of the Palm Beach County governing board and a resident of Pahokee said the center in Belle Glade is "fine but the residents of Pahokee needed a clinic in Pahokee."

"It's hard for the senior citizens to find transportation to Belle Glade," said Mrs. Barnes.

"The Pahokee Housing Authority provides transportation for tenants living in their units, but the elderly living in the city need transportation," Mrs. Barnes added.

Elisha Baines, owner of Baines Superette said senior citizens congregate daily at his store in hope of securing a ride to Belle Glade to the Health Department.

"We need something for the citizens of Pahokee," said Baines.

The Council agreed to have Mayor Noma Norman contact County Commission Bill Bailey and the County Commission on finding a means of reopening the Pahokee Health Clinic for personal health care services.

• Heard a complaint from residents living on Larrimore Road on youths riding on the side walks with dirt bikes and motor bikes and motorcycles.

The Council instructed the Police Department to look into the problem.

• Tabled the hiring of a fireman to replace Tim Henderson.

• Tabled until the next meeting the accepting of a bid for the purchase of a copying machine for the library.

HOW I SEE IT

The value of education

For the past several weeks I have written two editorials encouraging our black youth to attend some institution of higher learning, preferably a university. The system and its change of command over the years has given our young black rhetoric that a college education is no longer the bargaining power it has been.

We have been told there are no jobs; our fields of specialty are overcrowded with trained personnel, the economic advantage is no higher than the unskilled laborer's economic status.

These myths might hold water, 'but bearly enough to cover the bottom of the can'. To be black, and move ahead, we need education 99 percent of the time to get one foot in the door to the ladder of success.

Black youth - let no one fool you about the value of an education, especially a high school education... with progress on to a Bachelor's or Doctorate... black youth, we have the necessary talent.

However, these sentiments are not only felt by black psychologists, black educators, or myself; parents are holding and believing in the principle of education, to take their children places they could not go.

In the Glades, education is the motto, 'go forth and grasp all it has to offer.'

Between Belle Glade and our neighboring community of Pahokee, we have approximately 260 black students who received diplomas Friday night at the annual Graduation Ceremony.

Of those 260 students, 75 percent have decided to attend some university whether it be Palm Beach Junior College Glades Center or some far away university, such as Bethel College in Kansas.

To me, seventy-five percent doesn't sound as though we believe in that no nonsense educational rhetoric.

Instead, it shows that our black parents and black educators have been teaching our youth that education holds the key that unlocks doors, previously closed to us 99 percent of the time.

Youth, go forth with vigor, grasp all you can, while you can. Believe it when you hear it. "A mind is a terrible thing to waste." Especially a black mind.

Youth, go forth and become our doctors, lawyers, engineers, scientists, educators... of the future. Youth, go forth, you have the opportunity: our forefathers did not.

Youth, go forth, and proclaim black is not only beautiful, but brilliant also.

THE BELLE GLADE Beautification Committee recently selected Lakeshore Middle School to receive its beautification trophy. The trophy goes to the school with the most monthly awards during the year. Lakeshore Middle School had four awards.

Drive safely, school is out

School is out for the summer and motorists need to take extra care for youngsters playing or riding bicycles on or near our streets and highways.

Pedestrian fatalities for the first four months of 1981 are up six percent over the same period in 1980. The number increased from 230 to 243.

Bicycle deaths have also increased in 1981 by 19 percent during the first four months. There were 37 in 1980 from January through April and there have been 44 killed so far in 1981. This includes mopeds which are classified as bicycles.

Florida Highway Patrol Director Colonel Eldridge Beach requests all motorists to yield the right-of-way to pedestrians and bicycles, even when there is some doubt.

"There is small satisfaction for a driver who views an injured or dead pedestrian or bicyclist lying in the street and says, 'I had the right-of-way,'" he said.

Beach concluded by saying, "You may be offering the gift of life by giving up the right-of-way and there is no greater gift one can offer."

Half-baked Alaska

Sometime ago, I mentioned in Boiler Plate how the state of Alaska is only interested in rich visitors. The state issued a brochure urging folks not to come to work there because of a lack of jobs. They even asked that potential workers come equipped with $2,000 so that they can pay their way home.

The latest tidbit of information to come across my desk about Alaska is contained in the May issue of "The Advocate," the newspaper published by the Florida Teaching Profession-National Education Association.

According to figures published in The Advocate, Alaska leads the United States in teacher salaries. The average Alaskan teacher earns $29,078 a year. How about that Florida teachers?

Teachers in the District of Columbia, Hawaii, and Michigan all earn in the $21,000 neighborhood and rank two, three, and four in the country.

Florida teachers earn an average of $15,564 a year, 30th in the United States. New Hampshire brings up the rear in 51st place with an average of $12,948, while Mississippi is 50th with $13,000 a year.

The Selective Service has begun to recruit and train civilian volunteers for possible future local draft boards throughout the nation. The boards would not be established unless Congress directs a return to the draft.

By law, members are nominated by the governor of the state. For additional information, contact Willie E. Jenkins, Jr. at P. O. Box 6388, Tallahassee, FL 32301, (telephone (904) 487-1009).

There is no doubt that Judge Don Adams got the attention of the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services and juveniles thinking about making a practice of skipping school.

Adams recently ordered 20 juveniles to the Palm Beach Juvenile Detention Center in an effort cure truancy problems.

In a statement issued June 4, HRS said, "The Department recognizes Judge Adams' concern over the issue of truancy and intends to work closely with the parents, Palm Beach County School System, the courts, police, and all affected parties to develop realistic approaches to the community problem of truancy."

Warm weather affects gardens

By Gene Joyner
Urban Horticulturalist
Palm Beach County

A lot of people at this time of year are wondering why their home vegetable gardens are not perhaps doing as well as they should and the reason for this in most cases is increasingly warmer temperatures. A lot of the plants that are in gardens now were planted back in the winter when temperatures were more favorable for these types of plants and now that the weather has really gotten warm these plants simply are not able to perform well and as a result production is falling off or in some cases ceasing altogether.

One commonly heard complaint is that of tomatoes failing to set fruit even though the plants may be growing very well. Usually once average temperatures climb into the 80's tomatoes fail to set blossoms or set very few fruit if they do set blossoms. Growing these in shaded areas, as some people might do, will not significantly affect the amount of fruit and it is better to switch to cherry tomatoes or other heat tolerant types if you want tomatoes into the summer months.

This same type of problem occurs on various types of peppers and even other vegetables.

If you are just beginning to plant now make sure that you put in types which will take our warm temperatures and if you are not sure or can't determine that from the seed package it would pay you to pick up a free Vegetable Gardening

Guide from your local office of the Cooperative Extension Service (County Agricultural Department). This planting guide lists many of the common vegetables grown in our area and suggested planting dates for them.

If you haven't already planted your garden, make sure that you follow recommended planting procedures such as improving the site with organic material and also pre-treating the soil for root-injuring nematodes prior to planting.

Many gardeners find that mulching is a great benefit during the late spring and early summer since it will cool the soil and reduce water loss significantly. The best thing it does is keep out most weeds. Many people who do not mulch find that pulling weeds is one of the most common chores they have to perform and if you can afford to mulch a garden area with any type of covering this will significantly reduce your labor spent in maintaining the garden.

Be sure that you are not over-fertilizing at this time of year since plants that are growing rapidly may abort a significant amount of blossoms without any fruit being produced due to their being in too rapid a state of growth.

Squash and members of the squash family in particular are very bad about this. Fertilizing in gardens should be done only every four to six weeks with a general purpose balanced fertilizer.

Overwatering may also create problems at this time of year because fungus diseases are certainly more prevalent and thrive when there is increased humidity and moisture combines with high temperatures. Water early in the morning for best results and avoid watering foliage late in the day which would keep it wet at night. Inspect your plants regularly and this way you can identify pest and disease problems when they first appear and then be able to apply the appropriate control before serious damage can occur.

Tommy Swager played for Coach Dick Schmidt at Glades Day High School. He averaged 18.9 points, 12 rebounds, 74 percent from the free throw line and 69 percent from the field.

At 6-3, 210 pounds,

Swager was named to the all conference team, was the teams most valuable player his senior season, led the scoring the last two years and was named to the all state squad as a defensive end in football.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Swager Sr., he was a member of his school's newspaper, staff and drama club and belonged to the Junior Rotary Club.

Of the additions to next year's Scots basketball team, Coach Lambert said all three players can be very effective in the Old Dominion Athletic Conference.

Tommy Swager is an excellent outside shooter and will be of great help in our struggle against the zone defense," Lambert said.

Lambert now has received commitments from six players who plan to enroll at MC this coming fall. He hopes to be able to have 10 new faces at this fall's drills.

International researchers tour grass pastures here

BELLE GLADE — Forty-five researchers headed to the International Grassland Congress in Lexington, Ky., stopped off in Belle Glade Monday to take a close up look at the grasslands at the Agricultural Research and Education Center.

The group, made up of residents from New Zealand, West Germany, Mexico, South Africa, Thailand, Taiwan, Colombia, Australia, Japan, Zambia, Indonesia, the Netherlands, Bolivia and the United States, are one of seven groups touring the United States' grasslands prior to the convention.

AREC researchers

Findley Pate and Robert Allen hosted the tour groups, showing them a variety of grasses growing at the center, the center's subsidance post and experiments in growing grass at various water table levels.

Pate explained to the group the Subsidance Post was planted in 1924 in bedrock and since that time the post has been exposed 4.5 feet.

Pate said the exposed post shows the changing level of the area's muck.

Following the tour, the group had lunch at the Center, and later departed for Fort Pierce and Orlando.

The tour groups will tour various sites in Florida and Georgia before completing their tour which will end Saturday as they arrive in Lexington for the Congress.

New medical alert available to seniors

Senior citizens may electronically signal for an ambulance or police assistance with a push-button piece of equipment now available at no charge from the Palm Beach County Division of Senior Services, said area supervisor Keith Babb Friday.

The alarm is tied into a central crisis line. Pushing a button on the main console will bring the police. Pushing a button on a device worn around the neck (which can be worn in the shower) will bring an ambulance.

For additional information, call 996-1771.

The only cost seniors would incur by having one of the alarms placed in their home is a $29 fee to have a telephone jack installed.

Q: I recently purchased a vehicle which was guaranteed to give me 45 miles per gallon. On a trip north not only did I get poor gas mileage, but the vehicle hadn't enough power to push up hills. Later, the service manager told me it had never been serviced. Then the paint began to peel, etc. It got worse and worse. What kind of protection does the consumer have in such instances?

F.A.R., New Port Richey
A: I am assuming that the car you purchased was used. Unless you can prove actual fraud there is probably not much you can do. Fraud is the intentional misrepresentation of a known fact (for example that the car has brand new tires when the salesman knows they are retreads). Used cars are generally purchased "as is" unless specific written warranties are given. I would suggest that you consult an attorney to discuss the specifics of your transaction.

Amendment of the United States Constitution.
This area is rich in litigation and would require much more space than is being allowed for a detailed discussion of a prisoner's rights. However, many of the cases involve a prisoner's right to religious freedom, access to law books and lawyers, a prisoner's right to safe confinement, etc.

Q: Can a corporation be formed without the aid of a lawyer? If so, who do I contact to get the required information?
A: The services of a lawyer are not required for the formation of a corporation in the State of Florida. The information required for the formation of a corporation in the State of Florida can be acquired from the Secretary of State, Corporate Division in Tallahassee, Florida.

God in Christ Jesus. It is then and then alone that we can be filled with the love of Christ Jesus toward God and our fellowmen. It is only as we have this commitment that God's word really comes to have the place in our hearts that it needs to. Until then we are very likely to go on and make our decisions by what seems to be right, and the most appropriate at the time. As society has done this more in the face of losing absolute values and standards, the general level of morals and what is considered right and wrong tends to get more and more distant from God's standards of right and wrong.

The person each of us ultimately is responsible for is ourselves. What is our authority for right and wrong? Is it man's or God's?

Keeping the Faith

God in Christ Jesus. It is then and alone that we can be filled with the love of Christ Jesus toward God and our fellowmen. It is only as we have this commitment that God's word really comes to have the place in our hearts that it needs to. Until then we are very likely to go on and make our decisions by what seems to be right, and the most appropriate at the time. As society has done this more in the face of losing absolute values and standards, the general level of morals and what is considered right and wrong tends to get more and more distant from God's standards of right and wrong.

The person each of us ultimately is responsible for our own. What is our authority for right and wrong? Is it man's or God's?

A stroke rehabilitation clinic has been unanimously approved by the medical staff and the board of trustees for Glades General Hospital.

After reviewing plans submitted by Dr. Jamie Benavides, the board of trustees and the medical staff concluded that a stroke clinic is a much needed program in this area. Presently, the closest stroke clinic is located in West Palm Beach.

The professionals at Glades General Hospital have joined together as a team in the rehabilitation of stroke patients under the leadership of Dr. Jamie Benavides. The rehabilitation team consists of doctors, nurses, physical therapist, dietitians, social workers and the Visiting Nurses Association.

Dr. Benavides says that the clinic will help patients to gain maximum restoration and enable many of them to perform the activities of daily living. He says that it is very important for the families of stroke patients to be involved. Many times, proper diets and special exercises could correct problems that stroke patients have.

The rehabilitation team would evaluate the patients and help establish goals.

There will be a nominal charge for these services. Sources for payment will be explored by the business office.

The first clinic will be held Tuesday, June 8th, at Glades General Hospital. Referrals are being accepted by the social services department.
